Sydney Dance Company is pleased to welcome you to 2 One Another - a full length work by Rafael Bonachela. Since it was created in 2012, 2 One Another has had an extraordinary touring life, both in Australia and internationally. It seemed only right that we should celebrate its 100th performance by bringing it back to the stage it premiered on.

This work has been warmly received by audiences all over the world and we are delighted that after this Sydney season, it will have its Chinese premiere as part of the 2017 Shanghai International Arts Festival. 2 One Another will be performed in Zhongshan (The People’s) Park before the Company takes to the stage of the Shanghai Grand Theatre to present a double bill of Cacti and Lux Tenebris.

It is always a great pleasure for Sydney Dance Company to represent Australian culture on the international stage and the success and extensive touring life of 2 One Another is testament to the visionary commitment Sydney Dance Company’s family of supporters who help to make this, and all of our works, happen. The investment they make in our Commissioning Fund continues to return dividends far beyond an initial season. We are particularly grateful to those who helped us commission this piece in 2012, and all of those who continue to support this area of our work.

Reaching out to and engaging young people is integral to everything we do, and in 2017, our education and public programs continue to grow. Over the winter months, our teaching artists have travelled extensively alongside the Company dancers to deliver workshops in schools throughout regional Australia, in parallel with our national tour across six states and territories. During this 2 One Another season, a whole new group of secondary students will have the chance to experience this remarkable work at a school matinee.

Everything that Sydney Dance Company achieves and delivers around the country and across the world is made possible through the support of our philanthropic and corporate partners and all tiers of government. Their contribution to our vision is invaluable and we extend our sincere thanks for their support.

Note
I am always fascinated by the interactions between people and as I spend time in the studio with the dancers I can't help but see them as a microcosm of broader human interactions. As a group they spend so much time together that their relationships and interactions at times seem to be a whole world in itself.

During the creative development phase of 2 One Another, I invited poet and writer Samuel Webster into the studio and asked him to write instinctively and with immediacy in response to what he was observing. I then used those phrases and sentences as a basis for tasks and explorations for creating movement. The text that Samuel created is very beautiful and full of love and emotion and I sought to create movement that explored all those intensities of human interaction.

The outcome of the dance/text process is absorbed into the whole and apparent only in an abstracted manner through the inclusion of some of the phrases into the score.

The feel of the piece is for me about creating a world of layers, both visual and metaphorical. Design and music are an integral part of creating this world and again were completed through an iterative process that was reflective of the very idea of 2 One Another, that of the individual reacting and being stimulated by others and the group. Reference material was contributed and shared between the entire creative team and it has been a delight to build a work that intersects art forms and processes so thoroughly.

Since its premiere five years ago, 2 One Another has continued to grow and evolve. It has been so wonderful to revisit this work to add more choreographic depth to it and to watch the dancers breathe even more life into it. I am thrilled to be sharing it with you all again and I hope you enjoy.
Biography

Rafael Bonachela has been the Artistic Director and resident choreographer for Sydney Dance Company since 2009. In that time he has created 14 works for Sydney Dance Company’s repertoire. In addition, he has remounted outstanding repertoire from Bonachela Dance Company and commissioned Australian and international choreographers to create original works for the company.

Bonachela is a multi-award winning choreographer both nationally and internationally. In 2015 Frame of Mind won the Helpmann Awards for ‘Best Choreography’ and ‘Best Dance Work’. His work 2 One Another won the ‘Best Ensemble’ Award in the 2012 Green Room Awards and the 2013 Australian Dance Award for ‘Outstanding Achievement in Choreography’ and ‘Outstanding Performance by a Company’.

In 2012 Bonachela curated the international festival, Spring Dance, for Sydney Opera House. In 2013 he developed the choreography for artists Jennifer Allora and Guillermo Calzadilla’s work Revolving Door, which was part of the acclaimed live performance art exhibition 13 Rooms. For Sydney Festival 2015, he collaborated with artist Mira Calix to choreograph for the Inside There Falls installation at Carriageworks. More recently, he created Nude Live, a dance installation amongst the extraordinary collection of artworks that made up Nude: Art from the Tate Collection.

Bonachela’s internationally recognised talent has seen him work not only with contemporary dance at the highest level but also with artists from popular culture, such as Kylie Minogue, Tina Turner, Sarah Blasko and Katie Noonan as well as leading fashion designers Dion Lee and Toni Maticevski. Such collaborative efforts reflect the inspiration he finds and utilises from culture today.

In February 2013, Bonachela was honoured with an Officer’s Cross of the Order of Civil Merit by His Majesty the King of Spain.

Bonachela began his early dance training in Barcelona and was a member of the legendary Rambert Dance Company, both as a dancer and Associate Choreographer. He established the Bonachela Dance Company (BDC) in 2006 and was a resident artist at the Southbank Centre in London. As a choreographer, he has been commissioned to make works for Candoco, George Piper Dances, ITDANSA, Danza Contemporanea de Cuba, Dresden Frankfurt Dance Company and Dance Works Rotterdam, amongst others.

Note

2 One Another is about the experience of connecting and disconnecting – to be one, alone, singular. To know and experience the difference between solitude and loneliness. To feel whole or crushingly empty. To not connect or to forever lose a connection, or to feel connected even when that person is no longer there. It is something that is constantly happening to all of us. To be or to share with another initiates a whole different spectrum of emotions. To be part of a wider group, a smashing party, connecting or not to many multi-faceted networks which are there, ongoing, continuous, ending and beginning, with or without me.

The intention of the production design of 2 One Another is to frame the action, while my intention as costume designer is to get out of the way of that action while simultaneously dressing it.

A most fascinating part of the whole design process is how the costumes evolve. What does one clothe a dancer in, given that an audience is there to see limbs, torsos, hands and faces, feet, necks, spines, shoulder blades moving through space? What the dancer wears is not there to tell a story, these dancers are not characters, and covering their bodies with real clothes would be a waste of time. So what do the costumes mean? All I’m doing here is creating a second skin for each performer, one that is unique to each dancer’s body while at the same time visually connecting every body that is on stage to one another.
Biography

Tony Assness is a creative director and stage designer whose work is seen across a wide variety of contexts, including arts festivals, live events and theatre productions.

Tony has collaborated with the artistic director of the Brisbane Festival, Noel Staunton, on the 2010, 2011, 2012 and 2013 Brisbane Festivals. His role being to conceive and design large-scale public light installations and direct City of Lights, which was a monumental outdoor light installation that attracted 400,000 people over the course of 50 performances during the festival in September 2013.

Tony’s theatre designs include his collaboration in 2008 with choreographer Rafael Bonachela designing sets, costumes and the large scale, integrated video component for the acclaimed Sydney Dance Company production, 360° which toured nationally and to Christchurch, New Zealand in 2009.

Live events include the first Breakfast on the Bridge in 2009, fundraising dinners for Sydney Symphony Orchestra and the last 6 Gold Dinners for The Sydney Children’s Hospital. He was the creative director on the 75th anniversary of The Sydney Harbour Bridge and the last ten on-field entertainments for the National Rugby League Grand Final.

He is responsible for legendary, media saturated events such as the Sydney launch of Baz Luhrmann’s Moulin Rouge, The Great Gatsby and the global premier of Strictly Ballroom, the Musical.

Tony played the roll of party design consultant to the Academy Award winning film designer Catherine Martin working to realise the look and feel of the two pivotal party scenes in the film, The Great Gatsby.

In 2012 Tony designed the production, 2 One Another with the premiere season being broadcast on ABC 2 TV. In 2013, 2 One Another toured nationally and extensively through South America, as well as London and Moscow.

In 2014 Tony made his debut with Pinchgut Opera designing the set for their production of Gluck’s Iphigénie en Tauride under the direction of Lindy Hume.

Tony is a graduate of the University of NSW and holds a Bachelor of Visual Arts.
Note
The score is a journey in four movements; each explores different emotive qualities that can surface when we relate to One Another. Rafael had earmarked a number of pieces and together we explored and edited these musical possibilities, using Samuel's poetry as a backdrop and dramaturgic catalyst. The musical styles and composers are varied – from new classical music to Renaissance and Baroque landscapes, rich soundscapes and driving electronica – seemingly disparate musical styles – a reflection of the different human emotions we all encounter. I incorporated Samuel's poetry into the work by treating each poem as a 'gesture' in response to the movement. I electronically processed recordings of the spoken poems and set them into my original music.

The wonderful Spanish electro acoustic composer Murcof opens the work with Oort – a beautiful and sometimes disorientating piece that creates the perfect setting for the exposition. In the back of our minds, we always referred to this section as Welcome to our Universe. I created small sound bytes and musical interludes containing Samuel’s poetry to bookend the Murcof, inviting the audience into our universe. We then move into a beautiful Renaissance piece Lamento della Ninfa performed by Canto Amoroso. The Second movement explores ‘loving and falling’ and features two wonderful cello ensemble works by Hildur Gudnadottir and a Baroque styled Cello and Continuo improvisation by Paolo Pandolfo.

The Third movement is a musical climax exploring the idea of being ‘pushed over the edge’ and the emotional duality of ecstatic highs and dark desperation. I composed a piece called Dark Half mixing ‘new classical’ string textures, Samuel’s poetry and driving electronics and percussion - it is half dark and half light - qualities that I feel are always possible as we relate 2 One Another. The violin solo is performed by the very talented Veronique Serret.

After the works’ cathartic moment, we move into the final movement featuring the very beautiful piece Līdzenuma Ainavas by Latvian composer Peteris Vasks. This piece of music reminds me of dawn – breathing new light into another day. It is a hopeful and uplifting piece featuring Gidon Kremer (violin), Marta Sudraba (cello), the Kamer Chamber Choir and the Altera Veritas Ensemble.

I would like to thank Rafael and Sydney Dance Company for the exciting opportunity to create music for this soundtrack and my wonderful team of friends and musicians who have lovingly performed on the score.

Biography
Nick Wales’ visceral, immersive and progressive music is a hybrid between classical forms, electronic and popular music. Wales’ recent commissions include collaborations with choreographer Marina Mascarell for Ballet de l’Opéra de Lyon and visual artist Lauren Brincat for the for the 2016 Sydney Biennale. Wales has worked with choreographer Shaun Parker on a number of works including the Helpmann nominated score for AM I.

While Wales’ contemporary dance scores are both challenging and abstract, his pop sensibilities are undeniable. Traversing all genres as a founding member of ARIA nominated classical-fusion band CODA, he has collaborated with Sarah Blasko for a number of years; notably the pair co-composed the Sydney Dance Company score Emergence for Sydney Dance Company’s touring production.
Biography
Benjamin is renowned for creating bold designs, based in light, that are integral to a performance. He is passionate about the capability of light in performance design and its role in art, and works collaboratively with creatives on projects across all art forms. Since completing his studies in 2002 at the Western Australian Academy of Performing Arts, Benjamin has been instrumental in the development of new techniques in lighting design for the performing arts and exhibition industries. He has extensive experience working both nationally and internationally, leading teams of designers in the creation of lighting designs and multimedia for various performance, exhibition/museum and architectural projects.

Benjamin’s lighting design for Sydney Dance Company’s 2 One Another was nominated for a 2012 Green Room Award. His other work for Sydney Dance Company includes Project Rameau, Contemporary Women, Emergence, Les Illuminations, 2 in D Minor, L’Chaim!, Scattered Rhymes and Parenthesis.
Samuel Webster
Poet

Biography
Samuel Webster (b. 1985) is a multi-disciplinary artist born and raised in Sydney, Australia. The academic background to his creative training began with a Bachelor of Arts in Writing and Cultural Studies (UTS Sydney) and a Masters of Creative Writing (Macquarie University). Before travelling to develop his career in Europe, Samuel also finished a Bachelor of Teaching.

Rising out of this academic basis, Samuel’s artwork deals with representation of our reality through symbolism and takes many forms: poetry, music and photography to film, dance and painting. He has worked with choreographer Rafael Bonachela as poet and dramaturg since 2012’s 2 One Another, collaborating also on Frame of Mind and Ocho. In 2011, Sydney Dance Company published his book of visual poetry, PROTOGENOS, which was inspired by Rafael Bonachela’s piece LANDforms.

Samuel’s time in Italy has seen him spread himself thin, including collaboration with the National Archive of Diaries and the touring of his 2016 photographic exhibition, Ofelia Voleva Soltanto Nuotare, on the theme of violence against women. He has called Tuscany home since early 2013, but continues to work and collaborate internationally, both in his home country and abroad.

Sydney Dance Company Partner List

Sydney Dance Company is particularly grateful to those donors who supported the original commission of 2 One Another in 2012.

Sydney Dance Company’s Partners provide the vital support we need to commission new works, share them with audiences around Australia and overseas, grow our education program and support emerging talent. We would like to thank all those who have contributed to our Commissioning Fund, Touring Fund, Education Fund and Partner Program. We would also like to thank all of our Partners who wish to remain anonymous.

Sydney Dance Company’s Take a Step Campaign

Sydney Dance Company has embarked on an ambitious Capital Campaign that will see the Company cement its position as one of the world’s leading contemporary dance companies. As we approach our 50th anniversary in 2019, we are taking steps to secure the next 50 years through a $7M campaign to both enable the transformation of our physical space and underpin our creativity for decades to come. We would like to acknowledge our leadership and founding supporters of the Take A Step Capital Campaign.
